DAILY BUGLE®

Happy Friday!

Term 2 has just about come to a close, and we're moving into the last few months of the year. There will be many announcements in the upcoming months regarding different trips and activities, so keep an eye out for that.

We also had an unexpected snowstorm this week, and I'm wondering if it'll be the last one....

Important Announcements for This Week:

1. On Monday, there will be a Mid-Unit Assessment for Unit 5. We worked on the study guide today in class. This will be the last math grade for Term 2.
2. Writing grades for the first Argument Essay went home today.
3. Report Cards will be sent home on Friday, March 18th.
4. There will be a test for the Immigration Unit on Friday.

A brief overview of each subject:

Writing: Next week we will finish the second Argument Essay. The focus will be on the Third Main Reason, Introduction, and Conclusion.

Social Studies: The Ellis Island simulation went very well this past week! Next week, we'll be wrapping up the Immigration Unit with the final test on Friday.

Math: The Mid-Unit Assessment will be on Monday, and then we'll move into long division with decimals.

Classroom News

This week in school we are starting fitness testing and have a math test on Monday. We started the study guide today and finished out the clay sea monster or fish. We have 2 early releases because of snow and teacher in service. Most people went skiing or snowboarding on Wednesday.

Joke of the week!

Why was the soccer player mad on their birthday?

Because they got a red card!
